Priscilla is a complex, emotionally layered woman navigating the fragile boundaries between love, trauma, vulnerability, and self-preservation.

Beneath her outward composure lies an internal struggle shaped by her past, her relationships, and the difficult choices she faces.

The role calls for an actress capable of delivering a deeply authentic, nuanced performance through subtle facial expressions, meaningful silences, and emotional restraint.

Rather than relying on overt dramatic expression, Priscilla's inner world should emerge through her eyes, body language, and reactions.

We are seeking an actress with strong dramatic instincts, emotional depth, and the ability to convey conflicting feelings with honesty and subtlety.

Experience in psychological drama and naturalistic screen acting is preferred.
